Dillon, S. C., August 19, 1920.

If we were a betting man we would give odds that Dayton will go for Cox and Marion for Harding.

We are beginning to suspect there is something to the lieutenant governor's office. There have been two fist fights over it in as many years.

The lack of interest shown in the campaign meetings this year makes us wonder if personal abuse isn't a big pulling card after all.

If you have an idea what Bolshevism is you know what's been happening to Mexico for the past 10 years.

Here is an item you never see in the personal column: "The editor, his family and maids left last evening for their summer home at Narragansett Pier, where they will remain until October 1st. They took 13 trunks."

Looks funny, doesn't it, but nevertheless it is a fact when the Bolsheviks get active the price of cotton declines and the price of wheat advances. The reason is Russia does not raise cotton, but it is the greatest wheat producing country in the world. As between the two, however, we prefer low price cotton to Bolshevism.

REDUCED TRADE BALANCE.

America's trade balance with foreign nations has been reduced by millions, according to the report of the Department of Commerce.

No one expected the trade balance established against foreign countries during the war could last, and it is only because European nations have been in excessive need of raw material that the trade balance is as high as it really is.

When Europe gets "on its feet," which probably will be in two or three years, there will be a much greater reduction of the American trade balance. At that time we may have trouble in consuming what we can produce, prices will be much lower, and conditions approaching those existing before the war will be enjoyed.

But we presume there will be lots kicking because there is no great balance of trade against Europe.

THE DANGERS OF THE AIR.

The airplane is a dangerous machine, but it has come to stay. The first automobile was a dangerous machine, and it, too, has taken a fearful toll of life, but it is here to stay.

It took ten years to make the automobile comparatively a safe machine. It will take longer to make the airplane reasonably safe as a vehicle of transportation.

But the airplane, like the automobile is not responsible for this heavy toll of life. The responsibility rests largely with the reckless driver—the man who does not see the danger.

Innumerable airmen are doing foolhardy stunts in various towns the country over. People look on in amazement and sympathize with the foolish airmen for commercializing their daring.

The other day Locklear, originator of the stunt of changing from one plane to the other in mid-air, fell and was killed. Sunday a woman on Long Island, near New York, turned over 80 times in a 2-mile drop to the earth. Monday two Iowa men were killed while making a "nose dive" 800 feet above the earth.

The airplane is not by any means a perfect machine. It is in the experimental stage, yet there are men who will toy with it far above the clouds. They are comparable to the giddy young man who violates the laws of gravitation simply because the perfectly balanced automobile responds to his touch on the accelerator.

The automobile speed fiends, like the airplane stunts, usually get theirs early in life. They are the most foolish people on earth. Every state should have a law to protect them from themselves.

HONEST, EFFECTIVE AND GROWING

The latter fact all on account of the first two. ANTIFERMENT has never (before) been advertised direct to the public. In spite of this fact more has been sold every year than the year preceeding. Its friends have recommended it to their friends because of the honesty of its claims and its effectiveness when used as directed.

WHAT IT IS RECOMMENDED FOR

That form of Dyspepsia in which the food ferments, or sours, before it is fully digested by the stomach; giving rise in that organ to Colic, Heart-burn, Distention or Flatulence and many other familiar but distressing symptoms. This sour, half-digested food passing into the intestines acts as a foreign irritating body, and produces Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Flux, inflammatory and dangerous diseases.

(These disorders are commonly known as indigestion.)

WHY IT IS RECOMMENDED

ANTI-FERMENT helps Nature neutralize the acid condition of the contents of the stomach and bowels, soothe inflamed and irritated surfaces, and stimulate the secretory glands into normal and easy action.
